

Your First Online Sales

Made EASY

by
Elisabeth Kuhn

<http://www.EasiestWaysToMakeMoneyOnline.com>

Are you trying to make money online? And have you been frustrated because either it was too technical, you didn't know where to start, or it just didn't work?

It's almost as if there's some kind of a insurmountable hurdle that you have to get over before you can make that first dollar, or the first hundred dollars. And once you've made it to that step, your confidence rises, you're starting to expect to make money, and you'll know it's doable.

And yes, you can do it too.

No matter what has stopped you so far, read on because I'll tell you about a way to make money that's foolproof and so low-tech that you can do it even if you've barely mastered email.

It was the exact method I have used years ago to make my first online money -- and I made quite a nice extra income for several years. And that was at a time when I was still VERY technophobic. But I COULD do this one.

And right now, a big guru is marketing this very method as a foolproof method that is guaranteed to make you money -- with the bragging point that he taught it to his 12-year-old daughter and she started making money within 24 hours.

So what is this mystery method?

Selling stuff on Amazon.com Marketplace!

Why you should sell your stuff on Amazon.com Marketplace

You may have expected that this might be about eBay, and sure, eBay works too. But Amazon is even better, especially for beginners.

Here's why:

<http://www.EasiestWaysToMakeMoneyOnline.com>
<http://www.SellYourStuffAtAmazon.com>
<http://www.Make-Money-Online-Step-By-Step.com>

1) It's easy

It's really easy. No need to write complicated descriptions and clever yet keyword optimized titles. Amazon already advertises what you have to sell -- and places your listing alongside its own.

2) No upfront charges

There are no upfront charges. eBay charges listing fees, at least after a certain price point, and you have to pay those whether or not you sell your item. Amazon won't charge you a dime until your item sells, and then it even gives you an allowance for shipping.

3) Less hassle with feedback

First of all, hardly anyone leaves feedback. That's not necessarily a good thing -- you'll have to keep selling stuff and do a great job and maybe even ask for feedback.

But on the plus side, Amazon buyers are generally very appreciative of your service, provided you're selling them high-quality items at a good price, and ship them in a timely manner. So generally, your feedback will be great. Especially if you follow the tips in my detailed how-to manual on how to make your buyers happy.

4) You make more money

That's right. For the vast majority of items, you will make more money. Why is that, you may wonder? That's because eBay buyers are constantly looking for a bargain and try to pay as little as possible. They're also not particularly looking for books.

On Amazon.com Marketplace, though, you'll be able to sell your item for whatever is the most competitive rate -- and then just leave the listing until the item sells.

Some of them sell faster than others, depending on demand.

5) It works

If you have books, CDs, DVDs, and games that are in demand (and I'll show you how you can tell if they are), you'll sell them. And money will flow to you.

You'll also get paid very quickly. As soon as you ship your item, you can request to get paid (but only once per every 24 hours!). And within about 3 or so days, the money will appear in your bank account!

What does it take to get started on Amazon.com Marketplace?

1) You just open a seller's account

I would suggest to open a free account first. They'll offer you the option of a pro account, but I recommend that you wait until you regularly sell at least 40+ books a month. From then on, you'll do well with a pro account.

2) Find an item you want to sell

Look up a book or other item you want to sell. Note that underneath the book's buy button, there are usually additional prices for used and new listings. There's also a button that says "Have one to sell?" Just click on that button, and you'll be guided through the listing process.

3) List your book

Just follow the instructions. Make sure to evaluate your competition. Details on that will be in my full manual as well. But for now, just make sure that there's NO penny competition.

If there is, don't bother listing your book. However, if the competition is priced to assure a reasonable profit, check out the quality description of their books. If they're selling ex-library books and yours is like new, you can price yours a bit higher than theirs. If they're all very good and/or like new, go a bit lower.

4) Check your sales

This step is very important. Be sure to check your sales every day or at least every two days. Amazon is very strict about how soon you have to ship. They require you to ship within 48 hours at the latest.

5) Package well and ship

Package your book well so it will arrive at its destination looking as good as it did when it left your house. Include the packing slip that Amazon provides. And once you've shipped it, make file your shipping report on your vendor page. You won't get paid until that's been done.

If you want to make your buyer especially happy, send a friendly note thanking them for their business and telling them that the book has been shipped. That will give you extra brownie points and will increase your chances of getting positive feedback.

Your First Online Sales Made Easy

<http://www.EasiestWaysToMakeMoneyOnline.com>

And that's basically it. Simply wash, rinse, repeat.

The above instructions will get you started and help you make your first sales.

Of course, if you want to maximize your earnings and fine tune the system, I would recommend you get my full manual, "Amazon.com Marketplace Strategies," which you can find at <http://www.SellYourStuffAtAmazon.com>

And for a limited time, you'll also get a special 20% off coupon: "Amazon20"

Good luck with selling on Amazon.com and with getting that internet money making pump primed for incoming sales.

You'll find that selling on Amazon.com Marketplace is just the start on the way to an exciting adventure. In the manual, you'll actually learn about a few other ways to sell your books as well -- not everything sells equally well everywhere, and I'll share a few tricks with you that will help you make money from books you won't be able to sell at Amazon.com, at least not for a profit or within a reasonable time frame.

So go ahead and get your manual here: <http://www.SellYourStuffAtAmazon.com>

And don't forget your coupon code: "Amazon20"

Additional Resources

Like this report? You could have your OWN report written by me, complete with squeeze page and, if you like, a series of autoresponder emails designed to sell.

Find out more about it by emailing me at

<mailto:webcopyforyou@gmail.com> (Put Copywriting WSO in the subject line) or look for the Warrior Special Offer by Wordwizard on the Warrior Forum:

<http://budurl.com/specialreportWSO>

In the meantime, check out the following resources:

Your instantly downloadable manual for selling stuff on Amazon.com:

<http://www.SellYourStuffAtAmazon.com>

<http://www.EasiestWaysToMakeMoneyOnline.com>

<http://www.SellYourStuffAtAmazon.com>

<http://www.Make-Money-Online-Step-By-Step.com>

Your First Online Sales Made Easy

<http://www.EasiestWaysToMakeMoneyOnline.com>

Your instantly downloadable guide to 20 legitimate ways to make a living online (comes with 100% Instant Commission Affiliate Program!):

<http://www.Make-Money-Online-Step-By-Step.com>

Not enough time? Here's my favorite time management course that includes the powerful Day Job Eliminator module:

<http://www.IMTimeMastery.com>

Would you like some support on your journey to being a successful online marketer? How about help with breaking through the barriers that have been holding you back? Maybe you need some help with the technical stuff. Or you need help with making your sales pages and squeeze pages sell.

And maybe it's a matter of developing a plan and actually doing what it takes...

Why not claim one of my complimentary "Rapid Change" Coaching Sessions? You can find more information here:

<http://www.MyFavoriteSelfHelpStuff.com/coaching>

Meanwhile, good luck and much success with selling your stuff on Amazon.com!

<http://www.EasiestWaysToMakeMoneyOnline.com>

<http://www.SellYourStuffAtAmazon.com>

<http://www.Make-Money-Online-Step-By-Step.com>